Our business processes are embedded in our management system (we call this I-WORK), as well as quality objectives are aligned with company strategy. We assess our performance and where it does not meet expectations we Learn and Improve to enhance the performance and effectiveness of I-WORK.

Our employees and stakeholders are fully involved with I-WORK, its embedded process approach and its risk-based thinking. We support our employees, leaders and managers to demonstrate quality leadership in their areas of responsibility, because at Royal IHC quality is everyone's responsibility.
